Tennis for Life is an active support group for Breast Cancer Survivors, offering free indoor tennis and instruction. All levels of players, especially beginners, are welcome to join at any time. Tennis for Life is offered in cooperation with the Cancer Center at Hackensack University Medical Center. Our non-profit organization offers tennis lessons, organized tennis matches, peer networking groups and professionally-facilitated discussion groups to unite and assist breast cancer survivors in their recovery. In 1998, Marcia Devens, an avid tennis player and a 13-year breast cancer survivor, founded Tennis for Life to introduce tennis to others with her circumstances who would not typically consider tennis as an option to aid in both the physical and psychological recovery process. Tennis for Life is committed to support and enhance the lives of Breast Cancer Survivors. Tennis for Life is offered year-round at: The Ridgewood Racquet Club

 Words can only say so much, but we will try...
 Mom, you are an angel on earth that has taught us about love. You have shown us what it means, what it can do, and how to give it selflessly. We are truly blessed to have a mother like you. It is an honor to have been raised by you and to be taught valuable life lessons that enable us to be better people. We want you to know that we appreciate everything you have given us. We thank you and God for being in our lives and dedicate our accomplishments and successes to you.*
